Definitions

"OpenGate Software" refers to OpenGate Software Inc.

"Vendor" refers to the software developer or company planning to use UI Builder in a product they sell.

"Application" is defined as a discrete software product to be sold to one or more external parties. Multiple copies and versions of the same application may exist.

"Source Code Access" means end users will have ability to access and copy UI Builder source code.

Terms

(i) OpenGate Software is responsible for working with Vendor to resolve any software issues directly related to the product. Vendor is responsible for all end-user or customer support associated with their product.

(ii) Vendor must not modify copyright notices contained within the software code modules.

(iii) Vendor is able to make unlimited copies of their application for redistribution.
