Thank you for your interest in UI Builder! Below are answers to questions that frequently come up when evaluating the product.

Q. Can I import my forms into the UI Builder evaluation copy?

A. The evaluation copy is locked down to protect OpenGate intellectual property. We did allow prospective customers to download UI Builder with access to the forms and modules in design mode at one time, but found too many instances of piracy. If you want full access to the source code and objects, we recommend purchasing the product. You have 30-days to evaluate the software with a full money back guarantee if the product does not meet your needs.

Q. Do I need to license a copy of UI Builder for each user or database?

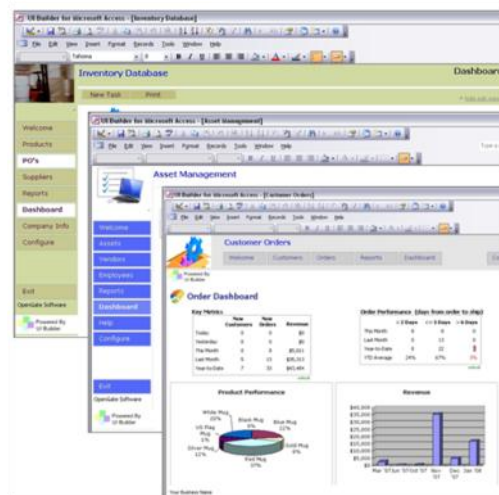

A. UI Builder licenses are for unlimited use within your own organization. We do not charge an additional fee based on users or the number of databases you create with UI Builder. If you plan to resell or redistribute UI Builder to other businesses, please refer to the next question.

Q. I am a contract software developer, can I include UI Builder in solutions I create for my clients?

A. Many software developers have chosen to use OpenGate software products to deliver solutions to their clients in less time, including UI Builder. Please refer to our redistribution licensing page for the most up-to-date pricing and details about which license applies to your situation.

Q. I receive a message that the database is read only, what should I do?

- A. You will need to make sure to unzip the contents of the zip file you've downloaded to a folder on your computer. To do so:
- Right click the downloaded file.
 - Select "Extract All..." from the popup menu.
 - Follow the wizard to extract the zip file to your PC.
 - Open the new unzipped folder. Now you will be able to run the evaluation copy.

Q. I'm not an expert in Visual Basic, can I still use UI Builder?

Absolutely! We designed UI Builder with you in mind. UI Builder is easy enough for a new Access user to learn in minutes, and powerful enough to help even the most experienced Access gurus.

Q. Do you have special pricing for non-profit organizations?

We support non-profit organizations, and would be pleased to provide discounted licenses of OpenGate products for use within your organization. Please contact us (orders@opengatesw.net) and be sure to provide proof of your non-profit status within your country.
